Authorized Learning Resources

Authorized learning resources comprise textbooks and other non-print materials supplied by the Department in order to implement the prescribed curriculum. These resources are considered essential to the teaching and learning process. Authorized learning resources are supplied free of charge from Kindergarten to Level III (K-12). Authorized resources (including Department of Education publications, such as curriculum guides and course descriptions) are available from:

Alternate Format Materials Library

Many authorized and recommended resources are available in alternate formats for a student who has an exceptionality and the student's Record of Accommodations/Adaptations indicates that he or she requires alternate format materials. An original application must be received for each student before the Student Support Services staff can provide online and offline access to alternate formats.

Applications, a catalogue of available titles and formats, information and videos about the service are available at the website listed below.

Supplementary Learning Resources

Supplementary learning resources are materials recommended for their value as teaching and learning aids. Supplementary resources are provided as a one time distribution. Schools will be responsible to resupply copies from publishers or distributors. For recent course implementations, supplementary resources have been clearly delineated.

Recommended Resources

Recommended learning resources are materials recommended for their value as teaching and learning aids. Recommended learning resources are available from publishers or distributors. A list of publishers' and distributors' addresses is included at the back of this publication. The Department of Education web site has a comprehensive posting of curriculum and related documents.
