

SUGGESTED BOOK LIST

FOR

JUNIOR HIGH LEARNING RESOURCE CENTRES

Acknowledgements

The Department of Education would like to thank Dawn Butler and Helena Butler of Mount Pearl Intermediate School for their work on the creation of this document.

In addition, we gratefully acknowledge the cooperation of the Eastern School District for permission to share this document with other junior high schools in the province.

Introduction

The following book lists are balanced to represent a diversity of authors, genres, reading abilities, interests, characters and social values which appeal to intermediate students. These are not intended to be definitive lists as there are many other books available that would be appealing to adolescents. They are, however, suggested lists for teacher librarians who may be looking for titles that have met with success among junior high students. For some authors, a sample of titles has been provided where there may be many more titles available by that same author, but are too numerous to include in this document.

In addition, these suggested lists reflect student input of titles, including those that engage reluctant readers and empower teen reading skills development through low vocabulary, high interest material.

ISBN numbers are provided for paperback copies unless the book was only available in hardcover at the time of printing of this document. In addition, ISBN numbers are provided for the purpose of identifying the correct title, but schools are not obligated to purchase from the publisher associated with the ISBN number.

The following are lists included in this document:

Orca Collections: compelling novels for reluctant readers, p.4

Authors and titles popular with students, p.12

Graphic Novels p. 38

Non-Fiction p. 40

List of web sites for Young Adult Literature p. 44
