We are here to assist your child during pre-school to acquire the skills she/he needs for Kindergarten and to provide ongoing support throughout the school years.

Your child has hearing loss?

We are here to assist you.

Available Services

Most school districts in Newfoundland and Labrador employ teachers who specialize in hearing loss. These teachers may support your child from birth to the end of high school.

Educational services include:

- Information and guidance on hearing loss;
- Speech and language therapy at home (pre-school only) from Itinerant Teachers of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing;
- Building listening and comprehension skills;
- Assistance in transitioning into Kindergarten;
- Providing information on other available services;
- Assistance with hearing aids or other hearing devices; and,
- Providing in-school support from Kindergarten-Grade 12.

Auditory Verbal Therapy Services

If your child has cochlear implants, the Department of Education has a consultant who will work with your child to develop their listening skills and spoken language.

This consultant works collaboratively with the Janeway's Cochlear Implant Team to transition your child into Kindergarten. The Educational Auditory Verbal Therapist may support your child throughout his/her schooling.

FM Systems

If your child attends a daycare, pre-school, or is in school s/he may qualify for an FM system through the Department of Education. This system makes it easier for your child to hear in noisy environments.

Please ask your audiologist for more information or call the Provincial Educational Audiologist at 709-364-1234.
